Dear Darrell and the Kontinentalist team,

I am excited to apply for the Product Marketing Intern position at Lapis. After a lovely chat with Peiying discussing Kontinentalist's collaboration with Orang Laut SG, I was deeply moved by your commitment to counter-mapping and reclaiming narratives in Singapore and across Asia.

My recent internship at Reimagined Futures has many overlaps with Lapis. I worked on complex socio-economic factors of the global freshwater and energy system, translating data insights into accessible narratives by mapping out relationships and dynamics. This experience enhanced my ability to understand multifaceted issues and how to communicate them with effective data visualisation tools.

Additional responsibilities I had during my internship were planning and managing content for Reimagined Futures' LinkedIn. In that role, I learnt preferred formatting for the audience and optimising hashtags to boost engagement. Interestingly, posts about systems thinking books and publications garner the most engagement, suggesting the audience's desire for learning resources.

Outside of work, I am involved in relevant volunteer roles such as the mobilising team of Youth For Ecocide Law. My main roles are in writing blogs and collaborations with fellow youth organisations. My blog on "A Legal Renaissance: How Ecocide Law and Nature's Rights Can Transform Society" highlights my strong verbal and written communication skills, expressing contemporary concepts and their applicability. I believe it also showcases my ability to craft messaging that speaks to the audience effectively.

I am particularly drawn to Lapis' mission of making data storytelling more accessible and believe my experience aligns strongly with your vision. I am enthusiastic about contributing my skills and learning from your talented team.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how I can support Lapis' growth.

Best regards,
Bonifacius Tirto Dwilaksono
